

Klamath Falls On Ice

The tradition of ice skating out-of-doors in the Klamath Basin began in the early 1900s when the city created a community ice rink near Moore Park along the south shore of Upper Klamath Lake. This natural sheet of ice was a popular winter recreation site. However, in the 1970s, due to changing weather conditions and city budget constraints, the rink was forced to close. In the 1990s, Bill Collier, a local retiree and former hockey player, began to personally renovate the historic site, which meant spending cold winter nights and early mornings spraying the dirt patch with water from a firehose in order to create the required sheet of ice.

Whereas all donations are welcome, Klamath Ice Sports is offering to engrave names and dates on a 9-inch metal skate blade to hang by the fireplace in the new warming lodge for donations of:

- $100 Bronze-colored blade
- $500 Silver-colored blade
- $1000 Gold-colored blade

If you have previously made a donation, blades may be upgraded now.

Thank you for supporting the future of ice skating in the Klamath Basin.

The Basin's constantly changing weather made it almost impossible to maintain a consistent sheet of ice and it soon became evident that a refrigerated, covered ice rink was needed. Bill's dedication and commitment inspired other volunteers to help with the project and, in 1999, Klamath Ice Sports, a grass roots, non-for-profit organization, was formed and began raising funds and generating wide-spread enthusiasm for a new ice skating facility. Located just inside the entrance to the Running Y Resort, off Highway 140 West, the Bill Collier Community Ice Arena opened in January, 2002.

The new facility has a 200' x 85' refrigerated slab and is protected from the weather by a tensile fabric, pavilion-style roof that provides a 360-degree view of the surrounding countryside, continuing the long tradition of outdoor skating in the Klamath Basin. During its five-month long season, the ice arena offers a wide variety of ice skating opportunities to both residents of and visitors to our area. Klamath Ice Sports is governed by a ten member, all-volunteer board of directors and depends upon both individual and corporate contributions to support its programs, its endowment fund and the athletic scholarships that are made available to young skaters. In addition, fund raising for the construction of a much-needed future warming lodge that would include public space, a skate rental area and expanded concession facilities is currently underway.
